CHAMPION FRANK KRAMER AND SOME RIDERS WHO WILL GO AFTER HIS LAURELS

SIX-DAY-RACE RIDERS MORE EVENLY MATCHED THAN EVER

Eighteen Teams, the Europe, Starter Looks Open of Year,

te riders of two hemispheres, are now stered in the international six-day biin pairs, this will make eighteen is who will start in the gruelling ind for the rich money prizes offered Messrs. Kennedy and Powers, man-the start, as a dozen teams race are so evenly matched final sprint on Saturday watched them in their training at Manhattan Beach declare they will make it very interesting for the An #-ican riders throughout the race.

Bivalry Will Be Interesting. The ill-feeling that exists among several of the riders will also lend interest to the contest, as each one will use every trick possible to gain an adwantage over the others.

All the ridrs who are now in the city report themselves as being in the best possible condition. Some of them have been training for six weeks for the face, while the majority of them have had at least four weeks hard work on the road and track.

George Leander, the six-day champion, who races Jimmy Michael, the Welsh midget, fifteen miles behind motor machines in the Garden to-night, will train up to the last minute, as he is anxious to beat Jimmy and then go in and win the big six-day race.

NEW ORLEANS ENTRIES.

RACE TRACK, NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5 .- The entries for Monday's races First Race—Two-year-old maidens; five of the riders entered in the international six-day championship as starters. Extra prizes will be offered to the leader of each lap, to insure a fast race. There will also be exhibitions behind motor machines by "Willic" Michael, brother of "Jimmy," and Margaret Gast,

BILLY WHISTLER QUITS

Over a dozen riders are entered who never have started in a six-day race, but their abilities as high-class riders are well known, and it will be these men who will bear watching throughout the race. Among a few of these their professional debut; Melvin Dove, the colored amateur, and Johnny Fisher, the Western champion.

The unknown quality of several of the foreign riders on this side of the water will also make the result of the race doubtful. The eight foreign riders who came here to compete in the race are the pick of the bleycle riders of Europe, and good judges who have watched them in their training at Manhattan Beach declare they will make it very interesting for the Angles.

Milo proved a revelation, for he was in and out, jabbing and hammering the darky at will. The second round had hardly started when the clever Philadelphia boy cut loose, and with rights and lefts to the stomach, he made Fitzsimmons wince.

A ripping right to the pit of the stomach did the trick, and after several seconds on the floor, Fitzsimmons was carried to his corner and there revived.

A preliminary of ten rounds between Fred Skiney, of this city, and Blink McClosky, of Philadelphia, enthused the members all through, and the decision of a draw by Referee Dan Donnelly was well received.
